

A slow arithmetic. Money walks out, seldom in crowds.

MONTHLY BURN

$2,480

Net cash leaving the account this month.

RUNWAY

32 mo

Months of burn covered by current liquid cash.

SAVINGS RATE

62%

Share of income not spent, month to date.

FIXED COST RATIO

41%

Share of burn that repeats without variance.

Prepared for 배상현 · A record of quiet exits.

This ledger is a descriptive summary of observed spending. Past performance does not guarantee future results. 본 자료는 과거 관찰 기록이며 투자자문이 아닙니다.

PART I · THE TWELVE-MONTH WALK

A YEAR OF QUIET SUBTRACTION

A stacked walk of the last twelve months across five household categories. The line's quiet seasonality is noted in the margin.

FIG. 1 · TWELVE-MONTH BURN, STACKED BY CATEGORY

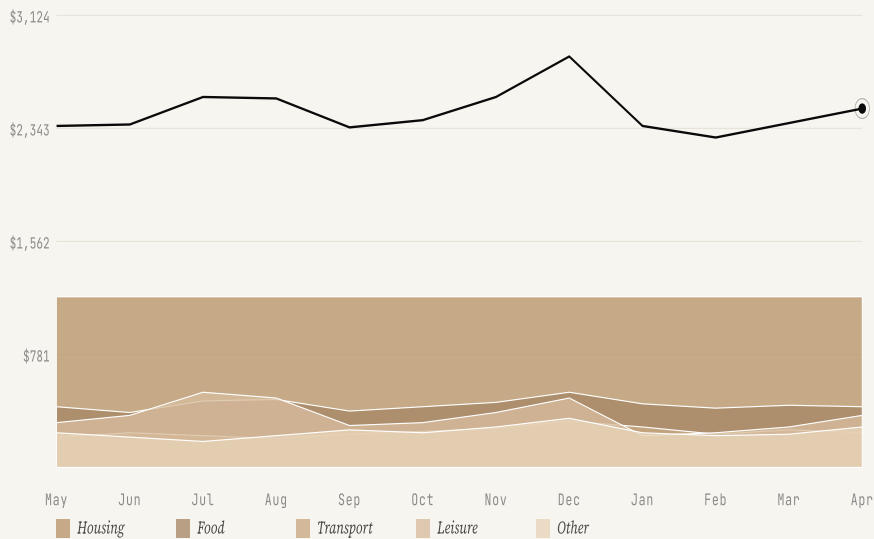

Fig. 1. Twelve months of monthly burn, stacked by category. Housing sits as the invariant base; leisure carries the season.

Twelve months of burn sit between $2,260 and $3,100, with the median close to $2,480. Housing runs as the invariant base — unchanged over the year, so a flat bronze band at the bottom of the stack.

Seasonality arrives in leisure and, to a lesser extent, food. The December lift is familiar and benign; January's quiet close is equally familiar. The shape of the year is a rhythm, not a trend.

MEDIAN

$2,457

The twelve-month median of monthly outflows. A steadier reading than the mean in the presence of December.

HOUSING

48%

Housing as a share of total burn this month. The single largest line, and the single most invariant one.

YOY BURN

+3.2%

Year-on-year change in total monthly burn. Well inside ambient inflation.

VARIANCE

$180

Standard deviation of monthly totals across the trailing year — the ledger's own weather.

PART II · CATEGORY LEDGER

EIGHT LINES, PLAINLY PLACED

The month's outflows, arranged by category. Comparisons run against last month, the trailing three-month average, and the prior year.

CATEGORY	THIS MONTH	LAST MONTH	3-MO AVG	YOY	12-MONTH TRAJECTORY
Housing	$1,180	$1,180	$1,180	+0.0%
Food	$420	$430	$420	+4.2%
Transport	$240	$260	$243	-2.1%
Leisure	$360	$280	$293	+8.4%
Other	$280	$230	$250	+6.2%
Subscriptions	$84	$78	$80	+12.0%
Utilities	$152	$148	$150	+1.3%
Health	$118	$84	$102	+4.0%

PART III · DIAGNOSTIC QUAD

FOUR SMALL CUTS, ONE COMPOSITE READING

Share of burn, fixed versus variable, three runway scenarios, and a monthly savings-rate band. The page reads as a single object.

CATEGORY SHARE

$2,480

Month's burn by category, width-proportional.

FIXED VS VARIABLE

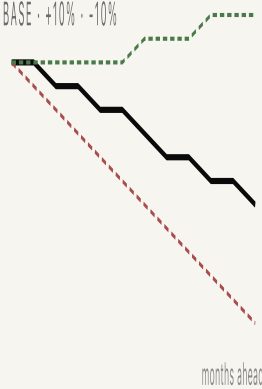

41% / 59%

Twelve months, stacked. Fixed band barely moves.

RUNWAY · 3 SCENARIOS

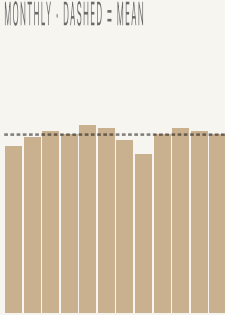

32 mo

Base case solid. Higher-burn line in oxblood.

SAVINGS RATE · 12M

62%

Share of income not spent, month by month.

BURN NOTES

On housing invariance
Housing contributes the flat bronze floor of the stacked walk — rent is a single line repeated twelve times.

On seasonality
Leisure and food carry the year's visible shape. December lifts; January quiets. The pattern repeats.

On variance
Twelve-month variance is modest. The ledger is not dramatic — and that is itself a reading.

PART IV · EDITORIAL

WHAT THE LEDGER DOES NOT SETTLE

One sentence to keep in mind, and a short list of things this burn record was never meant to verify. The ledger is precise about what it counts.

Frugality is not a strategy. It is the floor on which every strategy stands.

— THE LEDGER VOICE —

WHAT THIS LEDGER DOES NOT SETTLE

TAX DEDUCTIBILITY	Allowability of line items under local tax code sits outside this ledger.
INSURANCE COVERAGE	Protection against unrecorded contingencies is a separate conversation.
LIFESTYLE INFLATION	Upward drift in baseline spending is a year-over-year reading, not a monthly one.
DEBT SERVICING	Obligations held outside the household ledger are not included here.
LIFE EVENTS	Planned or unplanned events will redraw the stack overnight.
