PART I · OVERNIGHT SPREAD

THE HOURS BETWEEN YESTERDAY AND TODAY

A tick-ribbon reading of the last twenty-four hours — Asia close, Europe open, US pre-market — with the night's scheduled items annotated where they landed.

FIG. 1 · 24-HOUR TICK RIBBON · THREE SESSIONS

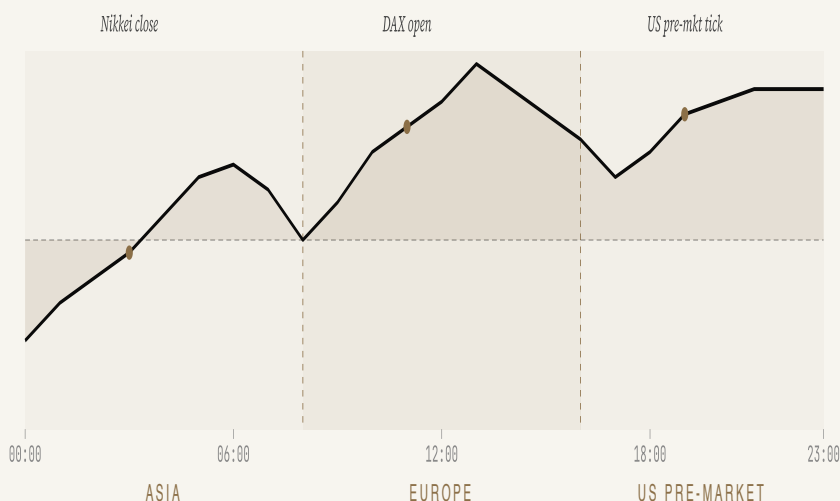

Fig. 1. Relative change ribbon across Asia close, European open, and US pre-market. Vertical dashes mark session boundaries. This is a record of what was observed, not a signal of what will follow.

Asia observed a measured session — KOSPI held near flat at 2,684, Nikkei closed 0.41% lower against a firmer yen, and Hang Seng recorded a 0.28% gain concentrated in the platform cohort.

Europe opened with the Stoxx 600 up 0.14%, led by industrials. The DAX tracked sideways around prior close while autos recorded a small drag. Gilt yields drifted two basis points higher in early trade.

US pre-market observation shows S&P futures quoting +0.12% and Nasdaq futures +0.21%, with the largest pre-open tick recorded in the semiconductor cohort. Volumes remain thin through the first hour of the US pre-open window.

PART IV · EDITORIAL

THE SHAPE OF ATTENTION THIS MORNING

A single sentence the desk is holding in mind, and a short ledger of what this morning brief expressly cannot settle.

A morning brief is a lantern carried across wet streets — it shows the next few steps, nothing beyond.

— PIVOXQUANT MORNING DESK —

WHAT THIS BRIEF DOES NOT TELL YOU

1. Where the session will close.
2. What any single print will do to the tape.
3. Which headline will matter most by lunch.
4. When volatility will arrive, or from which door.
5. Tax or personal timing for your own account.
